Bella's Song

Shadows of Devastation Linger
Inflicting on health, homeland, hearth
I paint in earth's tex-i-colour lashes
Each stroke a revelation, a farce

Morning's Light is Dawning
Chasing shadows of doubt
I emerge from chrysalis' fawning
Each tear, a silken fount

An Orgy of Life is dancing,
Stretching wings in gratitude
I celebrate the invitation fancying
Each thing lost, endured again wooed.

The Landscape is Ever Changing Recovering perspective's view
I welcome you instead to a fading Memory is out, life is renewed.

Nell Arnold, Director of Out of Australia pays tribute to Annabel Tully's courage and capacity to meet challenges physical and personal.

Struggling through a decade of drought, then several years of battle overcoming breast cancer and now greeted by the challenges of floods, Annabel Tully's story and art provide inspiration to many.

In this tribute Nell Arnold introduces four stages of meeting challenges – mocking life, doubt, attempting to recover what was lost, and coming to realisation memory fades as we start anew.

Annabel Tully is contributing 30% of sales on three art works to three charities that align with her experience and vision.
